Coach Bill Sanford Enters SARA Hall of Fame

Coach Bill Poses with some of his "Hundreds of Sons"

The big man stood there almost speechless. Almost.

"I truly am humbled and I also am very, very blessed to have the experience of life that I've had that was all around rowing," Bill Sanford said to the applause of more than 200 present and past members of SU Crews.

It was obvious that morning that as interesting as the races in the Syracuse Invitational might be, the SU boathouse was crawling with generations of alums because Sanford was being honored with induction into the SARA Hall of Fame.

When the racing was over and the shells put away, past and present oarsmen and coxes stood in a huge semi-circle, four and five deep, to see the presentation. SARA Vice-President Bill Purdy, the Olympian from Liverpool who was his first big recruit, read the words on the plaque and then handed it over. (See Sanford to Hall— page 7)

Bruce E. Chamberlain 1920-2011 SARA Co-founder's Life Celebrated

The word of his passing came in a call from his son, John and then an email to SARA members and more phone calls. "The Doc" was gone. He'd died Nov. 2.

Bruce E. Chamberlain, who had rowed for the Orange, then founded the alumni rowing association with his close friend Dr. Tom Kerr, lived as full a life as most of us can ever hope for. 91 years. A scholar, an athlete, a surgeon, an organizer, a cheerleader, a husband to Fran and a dad to John, Laura and Linda - that's the short list.

He left us just a few days before Bill Sanford was to be inducted into the SARA Hall of Fame, an event "The Doc" had very much wanted to be able to attend. His relationship See Dr. Chamberlain (page 6)

Letter from the President

Dear SARA Comrades-

As we roll into the winter months and prepare for the SARA Annual Meeting on January 28, I want to express my immense gratitude for the alums, the coaches and the SARA Board who I have had the pleasure of working with these past few years.

We will elect a new SARA President on January 28 and I will be putting forth our SARA Treasurer Joe Kieffer ('88) as the nominee to take the reins. Joe's contributions this past year have been beyond significant and I know that he will continue to advance the SARA agenda and outreach that we have worked so hard to ramp up.

Our organization is what it is because of who we are and what we represent. I like to think of SARA as a family – a group of people with a common experience of rowing for Syracuse University – who love the sport and are appreciative of the lessons it taught us about ourselves and others. Lessons about what it means to work hard and be part of a team – building friendships and memories that last forever.

The acknowledgment of the importance of this life experience and the desire to want to perpetuate it for others is perhaps the most important role of Syracuse Alumni Rowing Association. The longevity and vitality of the Syracuse Rowing program depends largely on us. Support comes in so many ways – from showing up at the races and shaking the hands of the SU athletes, to giving your time and talents to alumni outreach, to writing a check to help with the endowment or a critical equipment need. There is an appropriate level of support for everyone.

I thank you for your support these past two years of my SARA presidency. I very much look forward to working closely with the coaches and the SARA board on new initiatives and projects going forward.

Hope to see you on January 28 at the SARA Annual Meeting in Syracuse where we will begin strategizing on what is next for this amazing organization.

All the best,
Tracy Smith ('90)
SARA President

SU MEN—FALL RESULTS SHOW “ THERE’S SOME WORK TO DO”

Last year’s men’s crew had to deal with high expectations from Orange supporters and the rowing community in general. This year’s team finds itself in a slightly different situation.

“Every group is different and has to establish its own identity,” Head Coach Dave Reischman said in an email to The Orange Oar. “This year’s group is still trying to figure out what that identity is going to be.”

The class of 2011 is gone and with it eight oarsmen and a cox who finished the spring season in the varsity or jayvee eight. U23 National Team stroke Mike Gennaro has moved on along with three-year varsity cox Kenny Marfilius. But there are seniors and junior veterans back.

Reischman is reluctant to single anybody out but “we have a group of about 7 or 8 guys that seem to be working at a higher level than the others,” he said. “Our success is going to depend on the rest of the squad stepping up to the level of this lead group.”

The Orange was not as close to the top crews as the coach would have liked in competition at the Head of the Charles (results here: http://www.hocr.org/pdf/49\_MChamp8+\_official.pdf) and the Princeton Chase (results here.) But at the Syracuse Invitational, rowing in fours, the Orange beat Cornell. (Results and more here: http://www.suathletics.com/news/2011/11/5/WROW\_1105112843.aspx) All of which amounts to, well, fall racing.

“I felt the fall results showed that we have some work to do but we knew this coming in to this year,” Reischman said. “This year’s group has a lot of work ahead of it and we will see if they are up to the task.”

After a short Christmas break the crew heads to Florida’s Palm Coast for winter training. Then after the ergs, tanks, etc., the team is set to return to Clemson, S.C. for spring workouts.

The spring season? “I may be the worst coach in the country at trying to assess expectations for the spring season in terms of comparisons with other teams,” Reischman said. “We will continue to assess our squad on a daily basis and do everything we can to get faster. Where that will put us I haven’t a clue.”

“I know we are going to work hard and lay it all out there when we line it up with someone. We will have to see where that puts us.”

SU WOMEN: “A STRONG STEP” - NOW FOR THE NEXT ONE

Orange Women Show How to Pose for a Group Shot

The new sheriff has been in town more than a year now and it seems the townsfolk are getting the message. At the end of the fall racing season, Women's Head Coach Justin Moore pronounced himself and his staff "very pleased with the team's training and performance this fall."

"We have made a strong step from Mediocre to Respectable," Moore said in an email to The Orange Oar. "The challenge is can we move from Respectable to Good? Our late season performances, which saw us finish out in front of Northeastern and Boston University, and competitive with Cornell, Radcliffe and Brown showed us that we have the potential to be a strong crew moving forward."

A year ago the coach said SU could challenge for the Big East title if the squad progressed as he hoped it would. It wound up taking longer than he'd hoped, although the team showed improvement late in the spring season. Now he sounds more optimistic.

"I believe that we have made a great deal of progress in becoming physically capable of competing for a Big East Championship," Moore said. "However, being physically prepared is only one part of 'winning.' Notre Dame has won the Big East Championship for the past 8 years. They 'know how to win' and will be well prepared for the challenge we intend to offer."

The women will travel south together with the men's squad again for Winter and Spring training – winter at Florida's Palm Coast and Spring in Clemson, SC.

Moore sounds amped for the spring season., which includes two home races. "What is exciting to me is that our regular racing season - opening with Rutgers, B.U. and Cornell, then facing Penn and Northeastern, and then to Dartmouth and Harvard, sees us facing excellent competition each weekend. If we can win some of these races, and be competitive in all of them, this will help us be better prepared to race close races in the championship season."

The coach says there's solid leadership on the squad. "While the entire senior class has performed well, three women have stood out in terms of preparation, poise and performance. Carmen Failla, Emma Karpowicz, and Tiffany Macon used their summers extremely well to arrive at school ‘prepared to lead.’

“Carmen trained and raced with a G.B. provincial team, rowing 7 seat in the 8+ that represented Britain in the Home Country Games. Tiffany took it upon herself to learn to scull and race at the Canadian Henley. Spending a summer at the GMS Training Center in CT, Tiffany's effort in the small boat had her well prepared for the rigors of our racing season. Emma Karpowicz stayed in Syracuse this summer and executed her training with vision and discipline. All three have led the team well by example. They are committed to changing their competitive chances this spring.”

Tiffany Macon, Emma Karpowicz

Fighting at the Foot of the Charles

It seems the sheriff “has some horses.” Now he wants to see how they’ll run.

Dr. Chamberlain (from page one)

with Coach Bill and Coach Dave Reischman meant a lot to him and vice-versa. When the Orange came together at the boat-house that weekend, surely he was there in spirit and both men made sure he was remembered.

Chamberlain Family Christens his Shell

Coach Dave Confers with "Doc" During Practice

On Saturday morning of Thanksgiving Weekend friends and family filled the pews the DeWitt Community Church for a Memorial Service, exchanging stories about Dr. Chamberlain and paying tribute to him. Crew alumni included Charlie Roberts, Charlie Mills, Tom Rouen, Bill Sanford, Don Plath, Bob Donabella, Colin Goodale, and Jason Premo.

"It's been a great part to put it in simple terms," Dr. Chamberlain told The Orange Oar in 2010 about how big a part of his life Syracuse crew had been. "All in all it's been a wonderful experience."

The pastor spoke of how some people come into our lives and then are gone, while others leave footprints. Dr. Chamberlain left big prints.

Later that day about 50 family members and close friends met for supper at the Craftsman Inn in Fayetteville, a family favorite. Children zoomed around the floor of the private room with giant toy cars and trucks, as the older generation chatted and marveled at beautiful portrait books and displays put together by Laura Chamberlain Dodge, an excellent photographer. There was the doctor performing surgery. There was Dad with his beloved Fran who'd gone before him, and his children and grandchildren. On a boat. At a family gathering. So much more.

John Chamberlain stood and told a few stories about Dad over supper, bringing chuckles and a misty eye or two. But it was not a time for crying. It was a time for celebration.

Beyond the mall across the street a fireworks display lit up the evening sky – part of a first-time holiday weekend celebration. Four generations of Chamberlain family and friends came outside and stood on the porch in the chilly air and watched in awe. Coincidence?

Sanford to Hall (from Page one)

Sanford saluted his wife Nancy and the family he said “stood by me through thick and thin.”

He saluted the alumni who’d come from hundreds of miles away to shake his hand, hug him, to thank him, to kid him, to have their pictures taken with him; guys who rowed with him and for him. They too brought their wives.

Bill Purdy salutes Coach Bill Sanford

Coach Bill, Tracy Smith, Jeff Pesot and Jeff's daughters

“When I look out on everybody here who rowed for me and I see a story in every single one of them,” Sanford said, “I was the beneficiary of all these relationships that we’ve had through all these years.”

When he was finished, they applauded - for quite some time.

“Oarsman, Captain, Coach. Bill Sanford defines an era that stretches nearly half a century in the history of Syracuse University Crew.

A Syracuse man in every way - a native son who walked on to the squad as a freshman, rose to lead it as a senior, became Freshman Coach, then Varsity Coach for 35 years. His tenure includes the 1978 IRA Championship. More importantly, his instruction, concern and often his personal assistance helped his athletes on their way to successful lives in a myriad of ways.

Bill Sanford has three daughters and hundreds of sons.

- SARA Hall of Fame plaque

Evening brought another round of picture-taking, handshaking, backslapping and storytelling - especially storytelling. 200 or more came for a dinner at a Liverpool banquet hall to toast the Coach and his family.

Kristin Brodie had tears in her eyes as she told how Sanford had encouraged her and other women rowers in the early days. Jeff Pesot talked about the man who has often been like a father to him. Coach Justin Moore told how Bill Sanford had inspired him. There were a dozen more sweet and moving stories from oarsmen, coxes, coaches and friends.

Then there were the – amusing – stories. Hijinks and hilarity and the occasional posting of bail. All told with appreciation and all ending with thanks.

Sanford reminded everybody that he’d get the microphone last and he did. But the thing was – he was humbled. He told a story or two, kidded a couple of folks and mostly said thanks again. The applause went on again—for quite some time.

A LETTER FROM COACH BILL SANFORD

Dear SARA members.

I thought that with a month having passed since the Hall of Fame weekend, I would have come down from the "high" I had the honor of experiencing. I was wrong as every day a smile comes to my face as I remember seeing over one hundred of you at one or all of the three opportunities we had to get together to tell tales, remembrances, as well as to comment on how good we all looked.

I have been holding off, writing this letter of thanks to each and every one of you for this great and humbling honor as I have been trying to find the words to convey what this event meant to me. I have decided I could wait no longer and have come to the realization that there is no way that I could come up with the proper language that would explain my feelings.

Unless you have had a life's experience that is similar to the one that through the grace of God was afforded me, it would be impossible for you to understand what it means to see the major part of your life pass before you by the presence of successful men and women from five decades.

There seemed to be a few consistencies that overlapped eras that are worth mentioning as they made me feel great. The crew experience was given credit for the later success of so many in their professions. The challenges of snowy, long practices and rough water, head wind races and the fact that no one wanted to let his teammates down drove rowers to heights they would never have achieved. These experiences made it possible to continue to compete at a level much higher than most after college, in the world of the employed.

It made me feel great that so many of you and your spouses said that the S.U. Crew program was responsible for the marriages that took place and have brought you happiness in your lives. As was stated or written by many, we Sanfords worked hard at stressing the importance of family as we truly believe that the closeness you felt for each other extended to us and visa versa.

I would bet that the stories that were told, (they seem to get better each year), brought back fond memories of your college days and Crew so multiply that by hundreds and you will begin to realize the magnitude of the impact on me over the decades.

As I have stated in the past, I have been truly blessed by knowing and/or coaching you over the years. This Hall of Fame honor brought everything to a culmination that has given me a great deal of satisfaction with my life with you, as I feel I have, in a small way, affected your lives in a positive way just as you have affected mine.

I offer you my sincere thanks and as we all continue to support our current crews and coaches, may our paths cross several times so that the stories become even more outrageous and the "bond" between us continues to strengthen. The "high" that you have given me will no doubt last the rest of my life.

Sincerely,

Coach Bill Sanford

BACKSPLASH—NEWS OF OUR ALUMNI

Francesca A. Iacovangelo, Esquire - '99, MS '06—“I am back into rowing, sort of. I am volunteering my time mentoring two high school students who row for Philadelphia City Rowing ("PCR"), the Philadelphia Public School Rowing team. The program has had great success in its first two years using donated boats and equipment. One of the girls I mentor is a sophomore and recently received her first college letter for rowing. The other is a senior and was named team captain. It has been a very rewarding experience for me to help bring rowing to kids who may not have otherwise had a chance to try the sport.

If any Syracuse Crew/Rowing alums live in the Philadelphia area and would like to learn more or become a mentor, they can go to the website www.philadelphiacityrowing.org.

Nyala Watkins '99 - is living in Bangkok, Thailand. “I decided to step away from the western world for a bit and committed to teaching English abroad for a year. I've been out here since June and I'm having a great time.”

2000s

Kelly 'McGrorey' Broderick '01 – “Ryan and I had a baby girl Caroline Elizabeth on September 14. Big brother, Owen is excited to have a new playmate! We are still stationed in Corpus Christi TX while Ryan is serving in the Navy as a flight instructor.”

Rachael Kirchoff Posey '02 - Mira Quinn Posey was born on September 2nd, 2011 to Rachael and Zack Posey. Rachael, Zack, Mira and older brother, Cam, recently moved to Anchorage, Alaska and are enjoying living near grandparents Matt '75 and Patty Kirchoff.

Kate Todd '09 and Jamie Hubbell '09 - are living in New York City. Kate works for Bloomberg News as an Account Manager for Credit Suisse Bank. Jamie works in Brand Strategy at CBX on the Kimberly Clarke account.

Sydney Celebrates

Sydney Axson '10 – “I am about to enter my final semester of grad school at UPenn (Master of Public Health). I have worked as a clinical research assistant on a study investigating exercise and breast cancer prevention and am now working on my final capstone project - a photo-eliticiation study on food and tobacco environments for youth in Philadelphia. Outside of school I am rowing for Vesper Boat Club. In September Scott Wisniewski took over as head coach and I am truly enjoying the experience. This fall my open 4+ won Navy Day Regatta, Head of the Schuylkill, and the Head of the Charles. Additionally, I have been learning the secrets of coaching and launch driving through Penn Women's Rowing. Of course I bleed Orange, but it is really cool to see walk-ons turn into rowers!

Mike Gennaro '11 – “In October, I won two gold medals at the Pan America games in Guadalajara, Mexico in the 2- and the 8+. I was voted United States Olympic Committee Male Athlete of the Month for October.

“I am currently living in Berkeley, California training and competing for a spot in the US 8+. I'm extremely disappointed in how the Philadelphia Phillies finished their season this year, but looking forward to what is to come this spring with myself and both the men and women's rowing teams at Syracuse.”

Gold Medal Mike

Jacquelyn Mei Yit Lee '11 - is living in Portland, OR her home city. “I am working at the RiverPlace Hotel in downtown Portland as a front desk associate. I also got back in touch with my high school rowing coach and was able to help coach middle schoolers learn to row this fall.”
